Two of the nation's most loved Indo-Trinidadian artistes will on June 28 come together at the Sundar Popo Auditorium of the Southern Academy for the Performing Arts, San Fernando to present a concert simply titled, "The Comedian and the Singer In Concert".

The show presented by Randy Glasgow Productions (RGP) will feature this country's new king of stand-up comedy, Kenneth Supersad and T&T's biggest Indian music singing star, Indar Kanhai each delivering full-length concert performances.

The line-up of guest artistes includes the original chutney king himself, the icon Rakesh "The Raja" Yankarran, bmobile Shiv Shakti Dance Company lead by superstar dancer and choreographer Nigel Salickram, one of this region's sweetest voices, Nandini Kanhai, comedic acts including Ian Alleyne lookalike along with a number of surprises.

RGP is putting together a show that will blend chutney, Bollywood, Indian classical, stand-up comedy, theatrical comedy and comical music. Tickets are on sale at regular outlets nationwide and there are only 800 VIP and General seats available for this one night only show.

Supersad has risen to the top of the local stand-up comedy having become a favourite for audiences at all RGP staged comedy events, mostly however the massive Alternative Comedy Festival. He has over the past 20 years honed his skill well and is a versatile entertainer who excels not only in stand-up comedy, but also theatrical comedy and as a chutney singer whose songs are always very funny. He was a finalist at this year's Chutney Soca Monarch competition placing fourth with his comical rendition of "Looking For A Bull".

A humble and charitable man, Supersad is loved in his community where every Christmas he passes through the streets on a truck giving toys and snacks to the neighbourhood children. He is promising a first class performance with all new material, which surely will have all at the venue on June 28 falling off their seats laughing.

Kanhai is an accomplished singer who performs everything from religious, folk and classical East Indian songs to chutney, Bollywood and pop. He is as celebrated in India as he is loved here at home. In 2003 Kanhai was invited to perform at the Bollywood

Awards, which was held in Atlanta, Georgia, USA. He met Indian music superstar, Kumar Sanu who was impressed with his performance and they developed a friendship and a working relationship that led to Kanhai going to India to record. Kanhai's song list includes, "Apna Tujhe", "Kiska Rasta", "Abhi Mujh Mein", "Tere Jaisa", "Do You Know" and "Zindagi Hai Tarapana".

Kanhai said he and Supersad are friends for life and this concert was long in planning.

"Its our intention to take this show across the Caribbean once me and Kenneth can fit the time in our busy schedules," he concluded.

The concert is held under the distinguished patronage of Member of Parliament, Dr Roodal Moonilal.
